Program Overview

Today, corporate executives are personally more at risk than ever before. In a recent survey, nearly 90% of female executives and 70% of male executives stated they felt their world was more dangerous today than at any other time in their lives.

Everyday, a terrorist act is committed somewhere in the world and there are 54,000 computer attacks reported every minute, nearly $300,000 a minute is lost due to corporate espionage and attacks from extremist groups and violence and abductions are increasing worldwide. Federal authorities have acknowledged that vigilance is the key to safeguarding against these threats and as such, have recommended and in some cases mandated training.

In response to these threat and concerns raised by executives, Spy-Ops has created an executive level training program to help reduce the risk from the daily threats corporate executives face. The program has been specifically designed to help train and educate individuals on areas important to them individually, and in their role as a corporate executive. Our core philosophy is to give the knowledge they need to avoid dangerous situations and recognize and mitigating the threats they may face. The training briefs are concise and easy to understand, take only an hour or two to complete and contain information that is relevant to threats happening around the globe.

Our program consists of 10 modules that are delivered via CD or e-Mail and contain all necessary materials in Adobe Acrobat format (PDF). Once completed, the participant takes a comprehensive exam and submits it for scoring. If successful, they receive a Certificate in Personal Protection for Corporate Executives. The tangible benefits of continuing professional educating include career advancement, professional recognition, personal safety, job security and the list goes on. In addition, we offer fifty-two individual training briefs to support the specific interest of our customers, as well as custom training briefs upon request.

Congress and federal authorities have acknowledged their concerns about the executive and corporate risks. Both authorities stress that vigilance and training are the keys to safeguarding against corporate espionage, computer crime and other corporate risks. They have also mandated training from professionals such as lawyers, accountants, auditors and others whose expertise in corporate governance and operating procedures, as well as global business, make them an excellent source of knowledge on this topic.

"I found the course enlightening and shocking at the same time. In today's innovation economy seemingly innocuous interactions can lead to the destruction of billions of dollars in economic value. I feel much more aware of some of these threats after taking your course."
